

Educational lunch at the Boat House by the Lake

INSIDER BREACHES

Keith Lowry

Briefing with insider threat specialist Keith Lowry

- Led the Edward Snowden counterintelligence damage assessment team
- Architect of the insider threat and counterintelligence program at the US Food and Drug Administration
- Former Chief of Staff to the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense at the Pentagon and technology crime unit detective

Wednesday
17th June 2015

Institute for Regional Security,
Canberra

INSTITUTE
FOR REGIONAL SECURITY

INSIDER BREACHES

Briefing with insider threat specialist
Keith Lowry

Institute for Regional Security, Canberra

Sponsored by Nuix

Nuix's digital forensic investigation tools are used in the world's largest data breach investigations. This Australian-based software company is a cybersecurity advisor to the United Nations and provides technology and expertise to national administrations, law enforcement agencies, government departments and financial institutions worldwide.

nuix.com

In the public eye, data breaches are always the work of external hackers, but around one-third of cybercrime incidents involve insiders. Government agencies and companies must remain ever vigilant against leaks and inadvertent exposure of confidential information. At this educational lunch, Mr Lowry will discuss:

- How best-practice security policies and processes can minimise the threat of insider breaches and lessons from high-profile investigations.
- Why Australian organisations should consider the joint intelligence centre model developed in US military intelligence to address these threats.
- Case studies of public- and private-sector organisations in the United States that have used this model to address the threat and take corrective action before breaches became public knowledge.

Mr Lowry has more than 25 years of experience with insider threat, counterintelligence, and intelligence collection programs in the United States. Please join members of the IFRS board for a members' lunch including a presentation and Q&A with Mr Lowry during his visit to Australia.

Date: Wednesday 17th June 2015

Time: 1230 to 1430

Venue: Boat House by the Lake

Register: regionalsecurity.org.au